Global Engagement – Academic Award

2023 Application Guidelines

Instructions

Eligibility: All Academic staff. Self-nominations will be accepted for the Global Engagement Award.

The Global Engagement Award recognises the efforts of academic staff from the Faculty of Health and Behavioural Sciences who have demonstrated outstanding global engagement. This activity may have taken place over several years including/as well as in the year of application.

Applicants should demonstrate:

- Strengthening UQ's internationalisation through, teaching, research, and/or community engagement programs.
- Encouraging and promoting overseas student and/or staff mobility with community and/or industry engagement and impact.

Applicants will be assessed on their activities in global engagement. More than one activity can form the basis of the nomination. If more than one activity is listed, there should be a theme to the multiple activities.
